Supremacy 1914 appears on POPMOG

Freiburg, 12/17/09: “Supremacy 1914”, the real-time strategy game from Bytro Labs, appears now on the browser games platform “POPMOG”.

The browser game portal POPMOG consists of a unique package of features containing attractive games and community functions. Supremacy 1914 supplements the strategy section of the portal’s portfolio with the World War I scenario.

“Real-time strategists have the possibility to compete with other players in rounds of up to 30 participants.”, Felix Faber, one of the founders of Bytro Labs, adds. “Thereby, a very intense and personal gaming experience evolves. The large number of community functions from POPMOG adds perfectly to this style of play.”

About POPMOG:

POPMOG ("Popular Multiplayer Online Games") was founded in 2009 by GameGenetics as the first independent publishing platform for browser-based games. Independent meaning, that GameGenetics does not develop games on their own, but integrates popular browsergames from independent developers via the POPMOG portal and POPMOG cooperations. The portal www.popmog.com consists of a unique package of features containing attractive games, community functions, and services for game developers.

POPMOG does not want to reinvent the wheel, so instead uses established services such as Facebook as a basis. POPMOG for example, allows the registration of new players using "Facebook Connect" and "Open ID." Registration and invitations of friends are very simple.

About Supremacy 1914:

Supremacy 1914 - Become the leader of a nation and conquer Europe

In Supremacy 1914, the player becomes head of a mighty nation in precarious Europe after the turn of the century. He faces the challenge to become the undisputed sovereign leader of the whole continent using smart diplomacy or simply the brute force of his glorious armies.

Audacious combats and the clever development of a prospering infrastructure are the foundation for victory. Yet, absolute power is reserved to the combatant who forms the most intelligent and mightiest alliances.

Supremacy is a real time strategy game for up to 30 participants. A sophisticated AI ensures fun even in rounds with less than 30 participants. The duration of one round varies between four to eight weeks. You play on a map where units move continuously instead of being listed in tables, like in most browser games.

Already more than 100,000 players have registered for this strategy game by Bytro Labs. Strategists can play private rounds with friends or against competitors from all around the world, and this completely free of charge.
